

PC-Gen

PC-Gen is a private biotechnology company located in Buenos Aires, Argentina. With an outstanding trajectory in the development and commercialization of biopharmaceuticals, this company contributed its scientific capabilities and excellence driven standards to Amega Biotech's mission in the biotech industry. PC-Gen's main fields of expertise are cloning, protein purification, analysis and characterization of biopharmaceutical products, which consolidated Amega Biotech's unified structure.

PC-Gen is a company fully engaged in quality control procedures and its investments in dedicated equipment led the company to significant achievements in the industry.

The company has a complete portfolio of registered products that commercializes while setting a registration platform for future developments.